

LARKIN SANDERS

D'ADDARIO WOODWINDS CLINICIAN
TERRITORY: KANSAS CITY, MO

BIOGRAPHY

Dr. Larkin Sanders currently lives in Kansas City, Missouri where she maintains a private clarinet studio and performs in the Kansas City Reed Quintet, Midwest Chamber Ensemble, and the Philharmonia of Greater Kansas City. She is also a Woodwind Method for D'Addario Woodwinds and a Performing Artist for Selmer Paris Clarinets. In addition to her activities as a clarinetist and teacher, Dr. Sanders is also a composer who has a fondness for songs and unique chamber ensembles. Most notably, Larkin is the founder, Executive-Artistic Director, and a clarinetist of the Taneycomo Festival Orchestra, a summer music festival in Branson, Missouri.

CLINIC PHILOSOPHY

Larkin's clinics focus on sound production and developing the students' unique voices. By focusing on the art of breathing, fundamental practice, proper equipment, active listening, and creative phrasing, students are able to be their best musical-selves. Developing musical skills increase students' capacities for other invaluable life skills including—but not limited to—critical thinking, teamwork, and creativity.

THE D'ADDARIO WOODWINDS CLINICIAN PROGRAM

The D'Addario Woodwinds Clinician Program creates a more enjoyable music-making experience for single-reed players through exploring equipment and pedagogy. Available throughout the United States and Europe, free presentations and product trials are available for woodwind days, festivals, conservatory meetings, and retail events.

In addition to woodwinds educational material, our trained experts are skilled in speaking on behalf of the woodwind products industry – providing information on how reeds and mouthpieces are made, storage, innovations in manufacturing, and how to choose the right accessories to meet one's personal needs.

Each event attendee will be given free reed samples and an opportunity to test the latest mouthpieces and ligature models from D'Addario Woodwinds. Products featured are Reserve reeds and mouthpieces, Select Jazz reeds and mouthpieces, and choice accessories. ▶
